Homecoming

ALWAYS A PART of Homecoming at Wartburg are the meetings of the Alumni Board. Representatives of all the classes gather to discuss new projects.

"COME ON, LET'S fight," It's cheerleaders Fred Jaspers, E. F. Oppermann and the Rev. Robert Dell on the loose at Thursday's Homecoming convo.

HOMECOMING WOULD BE incomplete without the traditional royal beauty. And 1961 queen, Karen Simpson, provides plenty of that.

Karen Simpson Reigns As Queen

By Jen Miller

"I'm very happy to be the 1961 Homecoming Queen." These were the first royal words of Her Majesty, Karen Simpson.

Announced At Kapers

They were spoken after the announcement of the queen and her court last night at Kastle Kapers. Members of the royal court are Diana Daggett, Gail Lovold, Darlene Nimtz and Marilyn Rugroden, all seniors.

Queen Karen will receive her crown from Mrs. Janet Van Wyngarden, 1960 Homecoming Queen, during the half-time ceremony this afternoon. She will then reign over the remaining Homecoming festivities.

Along with her court, she will be honored at the Queen's Reception tomorrow in Centennial Hall lounge from 3-5 p.m.

The auburn-haired, green-eyed, 5' 6" queen comes from Janesville. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, and her father is superintendent of schools at Janesville.

Bulldog In Family

When asked about her family, Karen laughed and said, "There's my father, my mother, and a bulldog named O'Brien."

In addition to working 15 hours a week in the registrar's office, Karen finds time for extracurricular duties. She is president of Wartburg Hall, member of the Student Education Association and Student

Queen Karen

Welfare Committee and is on this year's Homecoming committee.

Majoring in elementary education, Karen will start student teaching in the sixth grade Monday. She plans to teach next year even though she is wearing a diamond.

Mueller Lucky Guy

Karen is engaged to Bob Mueller, senior from Waverly. Bob plans to teach business after graduation.

"We plan to be married in the middle of July," said Karen, "and we hope to teach in the same school system."

If spare time ever comes Karen's way, she spends it reading, listening to music and sewing.

"I make just about all of my own clothes," said Karen, and then added, "I like to cook, too —because I like to eat."

Not New Experience

Being a queen is not new to Karen. She was elected Winter Sports Queen last year and was attendant to the Spring Sports Queen as a freshman. In her sophomore year she was voted Best-dressed Girl on campus.

Karen, who is "happy and pleased" over becoming the queen of Homecoming, 1961, said that she was delighted with the "really good innovations" in this year's activities.

QUEEN AND HER court, (l. to r.) Marilyn Rugroden, Darlene Nimtz, Gail Lovold, Queen Karen Simpson, and Diana Daggett. Any would have been a fitting choice.

"I think student spirit is increasing all the time," stated Her Majesty. "My favorite part of Homecoming is the game because that's when spirit seems to reach its peak."

Diana Is Attendant

Brown-eyed, brown-haired Diana Daggett, who stands 5' 5", is one of the four Homecoming attendants.

Being on a royal court is a new experience for Diana, who comes from Sioux Falls, S. D. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Daggett.

"I'm very excited about being on the court," said Diana. "I've had butterflies all week. This is certainly an honor and one of the most memorable experiences of my college career.

Likes Spirit

"Enthusiasm is very good this year, and I've been impressed by the spirit in the dorm," she continued. "I'm looking forward to the excitement of competition this afternoon. It's always high when you really want to win your game."

Diana, who has been a cheerleader for four years, is also a member of the Artist Series Committee.

Majoring in music in the field of applied piano, Diana intends to teach piano in her own studio. She plans to study privately in a music school next year.

Kept Busy Playing

"It keeps me busy accompanying different groups," she said, "but I do get to meet a lot of people in this way. I enjoy playing for my own enjoyment, too."

Second member of the royal court is Gail Lovold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lovold.

"I was very surprised and honored to be chosen," said Gail, "and I would like to say that I think the general committee has done an excellent job of organizing Homecoming."

The blue-eyed, brown-haired, 5' 7" attendant from Montgomery, Minn., is majoring in elementary education. She plans to teach second grade.

Her extracurricular activities include SEA, Senate and Artist Series Committee. Last year she was attendant to the Winter Sports Queen.

Happy And Humble

"I feel very very happy and very humble about being on the court," said Darlene Nimtz, third royal attendant. "It's a great honor."

Darlene, a 5' 3", green-eyed blonde, comes from West Bend, Wis. Majoring in elementary education, she plans to teach next year.

Working in the library takes up 10 hours of her time each week, but Darlene still finds time for Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society and SEA. She is also secretary for the Senate.

Busy Summer Ahead

If hopes turn into reality, this summer will be a busy time for Darlene, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nimtz. She is engaged to Dick Hanneman, a psychology major from Galatia, Kan., and they hope to be married this summer.

Being on a royal court at Wartburg " is a new experience," according to Darlene.

"I'm very happy, too, that my parents are going to be here," said Darlene. "This is the first time they've ever come to Homecoming."

Alphabetically Last

Completing the 1961 Homecoming court is blonde, blue-eyed Marilyn Rugroden from New Richland, Minn.

"I was very happy to be chosen to be on the court," said Marilyn. "It's something to be remembered all your life. I've enjoyed it, and I want to thank the students for making it possible for me."

Marilyn, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Rugroden, is a social work major. She will graduate in January, when she hopes to start working in or around Dubuque—for a special reason.

Will Marry Pearce

Pearce Konold, social work major from Ocheyedan, gave Marilyn a diamond last summer, and he plans to enter Wartburg Seminary next year. They plan to be married the latter part of next June.

This is 5' 2" Marilyn's second year for cheerleading, and she is also a member of this year's Homecoming Publicity Committee. Working six hours a week in the admissions office takes care of any spare time.

Being a royal personage is not new for Marilyn, who was elected North Hall Ambassadress and Spring Sports Queen last year.

These five, Queen Karen and her royal attendants, will reign over the festivities and fun of Homecoming, 1961.

Tony Marteri To Provide Dance Music

CHICAGOAN TONY MARTERI brings his band west to play at Wartburg's annual Homecoming dance tonight. Marteri's is the first big-name band to come to Wartburg Homecoming.

The first professional name band ever to play for a dance at Wartburg will supply the music for the Homecoming dance tonight at Knights Gym.

Tony Marteri and his eight-piece band will play between 8:30 p.m. and 12 midnight. Theme of the dance is "Bird of Paradise."

Just Back From West

Marteri and his band have just returned from an extended tour of the West coast. The band has several other engagements at Iowa schools in the near future.

Marteri, who is the trumpet soloist for the band, guarantees a full evening of the type of music that is requested. He has shown a personal interest in Wartburg and has expressed his enthusiasm for appearing here as a part of the Homecoming weekend.

Wants Student Opinion

He is especially interested in the students' opinion of his newest record, "April in the Winds." This record has met with a great deal of success, especially around Chicago, he says.

Long-Awaited Homecoming Weekend Arrives

Keep Smile For While

Keep that Homecoming smile a few more days.

At least that's the advice of Fortress Co-editor Myrna Boyken for all upperclassmen. Fortress pictures will be taken Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Senior pictures will be taken all three days in the Wartburg Hall Lounge and will cost $3. Sophomore and junior pictures will be taken only the first two days outside the nurse's office and will cost 50 cents. Organization pictures will also be taken Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Faculty will have their pictures taken with the underclassmen.

"WELL, HAVEN'T seen you in a long time." Homecoming time is greeting old friends time around campus as faculty and former students mingle together.

By Lois Piotter

The big day has finally arrived — Homecoming at Wartburg.

The words "Bamboozle the Beavers" are imprinted on everyone's mind as the Knights battle Buena Vista.

Victory is the plan for the afternoon as the Wartburg student body as well as all visitors will be out full force to cheer the Knights on to defeating the Beavers.

Kapers Open Homecoming

Homecoming festivities for 1961 got under way last night with the Kastle Kapers production "Last Year We . . . " This was followed by the traditional bonfire and pep rally. The large burning "W", along with fireworks, cheers and everything else that goes to make up a pep rally, succeeded in getting everyone into the Homecoming spirit.

This morning Bremer Avenue was lined with throngs of people as the colorful and not-likely-to-be-forgotten Homecoming parade made its way through downtown Waverly. Over twenty units, along with six bands, led by a police escort and Color Guard made a picturesque sight.

Alumni Get Together

This noon the classes of 1911 and 1941 held their 15th and 10th reunions, respectively, at Carver's Restaurant. At the same time the Alumni "Mix 'n' Match" luncheon was held at Irving School.

This afternoon, of course, the Knights meet the Beavers in a game that is bound to hold thrills from the opening kickoff to the final gun. Spirit is high, and if the Wartburg student body has anything to say about it, the Knights will come out as victors.

Alumni Sip Coffee

At 4 this afternoon all alumni are cordially invited to attend a coffee hour in the Little Theater, according to Alumni Director Bob Gremmels.

This will precede the Smorgasbord, which will be held at Carver's Restaurant from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Price is $2, and both alumni and student body may attend.

Visitors To Be Greeted

At 8 p.m. a parents' and guests' reception will be held in the Student Union. All parents and visitors are welcome to attend this coffee hour as faculty and students will serve as hosts and hostesses.

"Bird of Paradise" is this year's theme for the Homecoming Ball, to be held in Knights Gym from 8:30 to midnight. Tony Marteri and his 8-piece band will provide the music, and tickets will be $3.75 at the door.

Dance Chairman Mary Scott says that formals are not essential, but that party dresses are in line.

Piotter Speaks Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning services will be held in the Chapel-auditorium at 10 a.m. The Rev. Paul Piotter of Fond du Lac, Wis., will be the guest speaker and will talk on the religious theme of this year's Homecoming, "Christ Conquers."

All housing units will be open to visitors from 2 to 4 Sunday afternoon.

Beginning at 3 p.m. Centennial Lounge will be the scene of the Queen's Reception. At this time everyone will be able to meet the Queen and her attendants. Refreshments will be served and everyone is welcome to attend, says Mary Markle, chairman in charge of this part of the festivities.

General chairman for the Homecoming weekend is senior Ron Bencke. Committee heads include senior Mary Scott, dance; senior Lynn Meier, parade; seniors Doug Kutschat and Kathryn Koob, Kastle Kapers; and junior Lyn Lienhard, bonfire and pep rally.

Other committee chairmen are junior Ron Rademacher, publicity; junior Jim Ward, noveltics; senior Mary Markle, queen's reception; senior Dick Hanneman, contests; senior Milbern Goetz, queens; senior Lou Schneider, finance; and seniors Karen Simpson and Cathy Gammelin, smorgasbord.

In charge of the Theme Float was senior Pearce Konold.

Kapers Ushers In Weekend

By Chuck Jepsen

"Last year, we . . . "

Last night the remaining words of this phrase were supplied in a sparkling 1961 version of Kastle Kapers.

Centering around a year in a typical college student's life, the program consisted of an interpretation in song or dance of a significant event from each month.

Events Portrayed

Selection of what were thought to be integral yet important events in a collegiate year was quite good, including the presentation of spring Outfly.

Most musical numbers could be grouped under two heads, melodic solos and swinging, often humorous, chorus tunes. Two numbers that didn't fit into these artificial categories were the Gerry Mulligan-inspired version of "My Funny Valentine" by Bill Reints' combo and the waltz by Jean and Charles Ager.

Burrichter Tops

Rightly receiving the greatest ovation by the audience was the "Irish Medley" by Ron Burrichter. This type of music seemed well adapted to his high, clear voice.

Ken Schneider's piano arrangement of "Summertime" was undoubtedly well-received by all jazz fans. The haunting quality of the chords provided a subtle introduction and conclusion to Diane Hart's solo.

The male chorus provided most of the lighter moments, outside of the cleverly worded interludes by M.C.'s Mary Markle and Ed Schader.

Perhaps a word or two should be said about the most obvious innovation, the addition of a pit orchestra, which did a good job of adding variety and continuity to a program that seemed to move efficiently.

Science Building More Than Idea Now

Science Building???

Remove the question marks now and replace them with a dash to signify that something has been done with much more to come on the Science Building.

Preliminary plans for construction of the Science Building have been formulated, in case you were wondering what had happened to the building because little had been said recently.

And if the completed building looks like the present plans, Wartburg will have a Science Building that will be among the best of any school of approximately this size.

As the building now looks on the drawing board, there would be over 70,000 square feet of floor space on three levels with a ground floor for mechanical equipment. The building, which would cover much of the remainder of the block containing the library would cost nearly 1¼ million dollars. Part of this might possibly come from the government.

Luther spent $1,400,000 for its recently dedicated science hall and Iowa Wesleyan reportedly laid out 1½ million dollars for a new science building to be dedicated this month.

Although plans are far from set, high lights of the proposed building include a 300-seat auditorium, a large lecture room, a greenhouse, a planetarium later in addition to many laboratories, classrooms and offices.

This building is planned to accommodate a student body of at least 1,500 students. It will house the departments of biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Definite steps that have already been taken include purchase of the land during the summer, planning by architects and work by a special subcommittee.

No date has been set for construction. Plans must be submitted to the Building Committee, and may have to be altered because of cost and in order to provide greater efficiency in the building, according to Dean of Faculty J. O. Chellevold.

But one thing is sure. The Science Building is more than just a figment of the imagination or an idle dream now.

Science Building —

All psychology majors can rest at ease. Rumors that the psychology major might be dropped are not true, according to Dean of Faculty John Chellevold.

Guess where the latest thing in lounging wear is Chesty T-shirts??

Modern Rip Discovered; Revisits Brave Old World

By Bob Johannsen

He was no large man by any stretch of the imagination; he stood four, maybe four and one-half feet tall. Actually, he wasn't standing four feet tall, but rather lying four feet long. We found him in the deep grass with leaves tangled in his beard.

Johannsen

What a beard that little fellow had! He could have done Burma Shave commercials for weeks and never scratched the surface of his chin.

It was the beard that led Al Fredrikson, who was the first one on the scene, to say he thought the whiskered Tiny Tim might be a misguided freshman. The Trumpet reporter, who was the last to join the group of onlookers, noted that no freshman had ever been reported wandering around city park that early in the year.

Rip (we later learned that was his name) had slept many years along the river, following an Outfly of days gone by. You may wonder how the whiskered chap could lie unnoticed for such a long time in the city park, where anything over 20 minutes should be considered a record.

Actually he had been upstream nestled in a wooded area. Upon awakening, he found his way to downtown Waverly and started to regain some of his composure despite the vast change in landscape.

Unfortunately, Rip's return was thwarted by a careless pedestrian. As our chap started to mix with the crowd again for the first time in many years, someone unconsciously let the word "Democrat" slip into the conversation. A relapse set in, and Rip went back into seclusion, this time by choice.

Hence, he trembled in the camouflage of the city park until a group of loyal students found him last night and brought him to the dorm for warm chicken broth fresh off the hotplate. Later, the following conversation took place at the Pub House:

First speaker, "Who is he anyway? With whiskers like that maybe he's a freshman. I hope he's not one of ours, because with only that suit of clothes he'll never be able to eat Wednesday nights. He's missed Outfly anyway. How would we classify him? He's never hit the cooling, soothing waters of the magic fountain."

Second speaker, "He wouldn't be so bad if he'd just quit doing that silly German goosestep and stop yelling, 'Down with the Brennan Plan!' Sometimes I hear him muttering, 'America for the Americans, but foreign for no one.' "

First speaker, "I think he's a college student because I heard him recite 'Pilgrim's Progress' forward and backward. And he knows all kinds of dates and facts: 1769, Benjamin published the third version of 'Experiments and Observations,' the population of the United States was 3,929,214 in 1790, etc."

Second speaker, "But he can't understand what's happened to him. We've tried explaining to him what's happened in a logical way, and he just stares. We reason with him, and he recites blank verse and 'The Rime of the Ancient Mariner.' "

First speaker, "I tell you, he's a college student and a Wartburg student out of the past. He described everything to me: Old Main, Wartburg Hall, even the Homecoming parade. He said if we looked under the flagpole, we'd find a plaque, his class' project."

Second speaker, "What did it say? Did he tell you that?"

First speaker, "Yeah, funny thing about that. The plaque is supposed to say the very same thing he yelled to the student body whenever he got the chance before he disappeared: 'The old ways are the good ways.' I guess no one knows if he will return for next year's Homecoming, but his spirit will always be with us."

PRESIDENT OF YOUNG REPUBLICANS COMMENTS

Peace Depends On Victory

By Jim Hughes

I offer no clear-cut, foolproof panacea for world peace. True peace will probably never be a reality in this world, short of the second coming of the Son of God.

However, when one looks at a problem, be it economic, political, social or personal, he should try to get at the basic irregularity which is the chief cause or source of the trouble.

Situation Serious

We find that the world situation today is very critical. With Berlin and Southeast Asia, and, to a lesser extent at present, the Congo and Cuba, the world is once again tottering on the brink of war. War, if it should come, would probably bring total destruction to all life and property.

Even if it were not for nuclear bombs, there could still be total destruction as the result of war. Since we have these more powerful weapons of warfare, however, the next war is spoken of in terms of "days" or "weeks," whereas former wars reached into periods of "years."

Communists Cause Trouble

It is quite evident that the basic causes for much of today's world tensions do not spring from the existence of nuclear bombs; not from an inadequate or divided United Nations; not from the presence of troops in Eastern and Western Europe; not because of some bearded crackpot ninety miles from our doorstep; but because the basic policy of the Soviet Union is still unchanged —that of conquering the world for Communism.

It seems only logical to say that, until those whose goal of world domination can be either overthrown or else effectively checked so as to render their imperialistic designs inoperable, world crises will continue.

Will Communists Change?

Do we think the Communists will agree to any sort of disarmament proposal which in any way would weaken their hold upon what they now control? Will the Communists ever stop using terror and bully tactics on the rest of the world as long as they are gaining by it?

Will the Reds ever stop pushing for negotiations on "what is ours," while they refuse all debate over "what is theirs"?

Can there ever be "peaceful coexistence" with the Communists? Why are all of the world's trouble spots on this side of the Iron Curtain?

We Fear Revolutions

Also, let us ask some questions about recent history. It is quite obvious that we are actually fearful of another freedom uprising in the captive satellites. We fear the consequences of revolt more than the continued slavery of these people, or else we would not have permitted the Soviets to erect the cement and barbed-wire wall down the middle of Berlin.

Why were we also unprepared for the Hungarian uprising in 1956? Why did we choose not to go all the way in the more recent Cuban invasion? It is because we have not and still do not possess a strategy for winning the Cold War.

Are our rights in Berlin negotiable? Despite President Kennedy's eloquent speeches saying that our rights are not negotiable, there are once again signs of appeasement in the air. On the home front as well, he seeks to get rid of almost every problem by spending more money in hopes that somehow they will go away.

Cold War Is Thorn

We must deal with the basic sources of our problems if we are to find sound solutions for them. We need to wake up to the fact of the Cold War. We must seek to win this Cold War.

The Western World today possesses the necessary resources to gain the offensive once again. We would still be risking nuclear war, but we would have everything to gain. Such an offensive would not only raise the torch of liberty and hope for the captive peoples of the world, but it would also weaken the Communists' own bases of expansion.

True, we are in need of a "strategy for peace," but a necessary prerequisite to this must be a "strategy for victory."

Drama Opens Season Series

By Elaine Melchert

As a climax to the Homecoming weekend and an opening of a new season's Artist Series, "Hedda Gabler" will be presented Monday night at 8 in the Chapel-auditorium.

The Cleveland Play House will give this production written by the Norwegian playwright, Henrik Ibsen.

Already Old Play

Written in 1890, the play still has shown popularity as it enters its eighth decade. It was written when Ibsen was at the height of his fame and talent. The author shows himself as a social dramatist, a modern realist and a dramatist of ideas.

The skill in Ibsen's play appears to be in the vivid character portrayal. Fire and emotion are contained in the story.

Selfish individuality carried through to its bitter and tragic end is the story that is told. Hedda Gabler feels shackled by 19th-century morality. Unsatisfied with her husband and her life, she destroys everything about her and eventually herself.

Hedda Attracts

As a woman, Hedda is attractive, charming, well-bred and complex, but lacks purpose in life and courage to face responsibilities. Longing for her former admirer, Eilert Lovborg, leads her to test her ability to maneuver the fate of another.

Hedda succeeds in getting this poetic young man, Lovborg, drunk and burns his priceless manuscript and then suggests suicide, giving him one of her pistols. He kills himself, but Hedda's triumph does not last long because evidence of the pistol implicates her.

To keep this secret, the judge tries to blackmail Hedda, but this idea seems so repulsive to her that she commits suicide.

Following the Artist Series presentation Monday evening, a reception will be held in the Student Union. Sponsored by Student Senate, the reception is open to all students, faculty and staff members. Members of the "Hedda Gabler" cast will be honored guests.

Ibsen once wrote of his play, "It is not my desire to deal in this play with so-called problems; what I principally wanted to do was to depict human beings, human emotions and human destinies."

Gifted Actress

Hedda is played by Adale O'Brien, who was recently called "multi-gifted" by a strict Cleveland drama critic. This comment stems from the diverse characterizations she has portrayed. Born in Billings, Mont., she had three years of stock company work there and appeared on several TV programs.

Alan Lindgren plays the part of Lovborg. Lindgren, now 22, was a child actor in his hometown of New York City. He worked with TV's Sid Caesar on the "Show of Shows," on the Kraft Playhouse, Philco Playhouse and with other TV programs.

Manager of the company for this tour is David Hager. Hager is an actor, director and scene designer. He has directed such plays as "Doctor Faustus" and "Look Homeward, Angel."

Oldest In U. S.

The Cleveland Play House is the oldest and most outstanding professional theatre in the United States. Each season in its three theatres it produces approximately twenty classical and modern plays.

This year's tour started Oct. 2 in Platteville, Wis., and continues on to the California coast.

Life magazine pronounced the Play House "a success story because it has proved that having a good time and enjoying good art can take place simultaneously."

Communication Is Subject Of New Series In Convo

The first two programs of Warthurg's well-puhlicized convo series will be presented next week. The convos are the first of a series of six dealing with eommunication.

Speaking at Tuesday's convo is Dr. Ralph Nichols, head of the Speech Department at the University of Minnesota. He will talk on the subject "He Who Has Ears."

Nichols is a well-known speaker and writer. Among his books, "Are You Listening?" is the most popular. He is co-author of that hook and has written many on his own. Nichols is also president of the Speech Association of America this year.

In connection with Nichols' appearance there will be a luncheon at Carver's at noon to give all faculty members a chance to meet him. At 2 p.m. Nichols will talk to English, speech and journalism majors in the audio-visual room of the library.

Chaplain Herman Diers will be the speaker at Thursday's convo. His subject is "Liturgy as Communication."

Spirit Invades Campus In Homecoming Activities

By Louise Loots

Wartburg has been invaded!

By what? The Homecoming Spirit!

Dancing around and about the campus like a gay street carnival, it makes its presence known wherever it goes. Do you see those balloons bobbing merrily above the buildings? It's been there.

And there it is again, impishly zipping in and out of the pompons rustling in the wind. Every once in a while it slips inside a cowbell and gives the little clanger a real working out.

□ □ □ □

And then it's off again, saying, "Catch me if you can!" Elusive little sprite, isn't it? But instead of trying to capture it, join in the fun, add to the spirit and have a wonderful weekend.

Louise

All set? Then, let's go! If you didn't get a chance to see the parade, be sure to stop to see the floats parked here and there around the campus. But don't expect to find the Spirit there.

Although someone saw it perched just behind the left ear of Sir Victor's steed during the parade, it has now blown itself up to fill the entire stadium for one of the high lights of Homecoming — the football game. So, come on along. See if you can make the Spirit even bigger. You can, you know. See? I knew you could.

After the game, when you're starved from working so hard to cheer the team on, you can find the Spirit all dressed up in its finest for the Homecoming Smorgasbord at Carver's Restaurant. If you're like the Spirit, always wanting s'more, the Smorgasbord's the thing for you.

The event anticipated by many a lovely lass and laddie (And who isn't at Homecoming?) is the climax of the day — the Homecoming Ball. Oh, you'll find the Spirit there too, in the sparkle of a smile, the shimmering beauty of a rose or the radiant splendor of a "Bird of Paradise."

So by the end of the day you should be so full of the Spirit that you'll be almost ready to burst.

But don't forget to save some of it for the Queen's Reception on Sunday afternoon in Centennial Lounge. There you'll not only meet the queen and her court, but also find the Spirit once again. At last it's found a home in the form of a crown encircling the head of the fairest one of all — the 1961 Homecoming Queen.

After the big weekend, when we will just be settling back down to earth again, along will come the play by Ibsen, "Hedda Gabler." Ah, what a lifesaver! And to postpone that let-down feeling even longer, come to the post-theater reception in the Student Union honoring the members of the cast. This should really be an entertaining and enriching evening. See you there.

Then there's "Oliver Reeve Night." If you want to find out what that's all about, take in the Young Republicans' meeting in Grossmann Hall lounge Thursday night at 7:30.

For all of you who are interested in journalism or printing, there will be an excellent opportunity to increase your knowledge of the mechanical aspects of this field next Friday evening at 7:30 at the Journalism Workshop being held in the Chapel-auditorium. I hear there will be visual aids to help the audience understand. Everyone is invited, and what is really nice, it's all free.

That's all for this week, but before I go, might I ask one thing? I hate to sound uninformed or anything like that, but there's one thing that has been bothering me all week.

How do you bamboozle?

Injury Plague Hurts Knights' Chances In H-C Game

By Paul Mardorf

Injuries will play a big part in Wartburg's Homecoming contest with the Buena Vista Beavers at 2 p.m. today in Schield Stadium.

Ten Knights were on the injured list at mid-week. Of these, nine were regulars. BV also has been plagued with injuries, especially in the backfield.

Five Out For Sure

Those who will definitely miss the game today are regulars Terry Schneider, Bob Wachholz, Orville McElfresh, Roger Pagel and reserve Paul Stewart.

Doubtfuls for the game include Eldon Ott, Denny Krominga, Bill Fulcher, Lowell Junkman and Jack McClelland.

Don Sowers is scheduled to start again at halfback, but Bob Nielsen is returning to halfback because of the number of injuries.

Five Frosh In Line-up

The Beavers this year have compiled a 1-3 record, having lost all three of their conference games—to Parsons, Luther and Upper Iowa, the top three teams.

BV Is Rough

Head Coach Norm Johansen commented Wednesday that the Beavers are potentially a stronger ball club than they have shown thus far.

"We saw them up at Luther and were quite impressed with their team," said Johansen.

Although he was disappointed over the Knights' loss last week, he thinks that the offensive unit has potential to score more than a mere one touchdown a game.

Knights' inability to score continued last Saturday when Upper Iowa outscored the Knights 17-7.

Lose Victory Bell

Thus, the Peacocks took possession of the Victory Bell for the first time in four years, as the Knights hadn't lost to the Peacocks since 1957.

The game was played under sunny skies for the first time in three weeks on the rough Fayette High School field before Upper Iowa's Homecoming crowd of around one thousand people.

The sunshiny weather, however, did not help the Knights. Even with a newly revamped line-up and a revised offense, the Jomen couldn't manage to score more than their weekly touchdown.

Peacocks Hit Early

Peacocks got the edge on the Knights, scoring 14 of their 17 points in the first quarter. The first score came after a pass interception on a four-yard run by Reinert.

In the third quarter Mike Eischeid, Upper Iowa's kicking specialist, showed his booting ability by making a field goal from the 46-yard line.

Tower Scores TD

Knights finally got into the scoring column with 10 minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Junior Tim Tower, who usually plays only on defense, got behind the Upper Iowa defenders to make a running catch on a pass from Gary Leeper. The play covered 71 yards.

Wartburg had another scoring chance a few minutes later, when it appeared that the Jomen might make a comeback. But another intercepted pass on the 20 stopped the Knights cold.

ALTHOUGH IT MAY not be too obvious who has the ball, it's obvious that a conglomeration of Parsons' players are smearing a Wartburg back.

PICKING UP SPLINTERS

Knights Usually At Best During Homecoming Tilts

By Paul Baumgarten

In the words of William Shakespeare (?) and the W.A.A. "O Victory, Victory, wherefore art thou, Victory?"

It seems as if one touchdown a week isn't enough to win in this league.

Wartburg Homecoming encounters since the college moved to Waverly have been a great deal more successful percentage-wise than have regular season records.

The Knights have posted a 15-8-2 record in Homecoming action while having a combined seasons' record of 77-105-10. This works out to a won-lost percentage of .650 for Homecomings and .420 for regular season play.

Game records of these Homecoming games show some interesting facets. The Knights won their first Homecoming encounter on Oct. 21, 1936, defeating Northwestern Junior College 14-0.

Baumgarten

The next H-C game of note occurred in 1941 when Wartburg made national headlines by breaking a winless streak of 23 games, winning its first Iowa Conference game after its admittance in 1937 and defeating Buena Vista 7-0.

The Knights then embarked on 10 fruitful years without a loss. In that period Wartburg won nine games (no game scheduled in 1942 because of the war).

Two of these games were won on the final play of the game, to keep the streak alive. In 1946 a pass capped an 85-yard, last-minute drive to defeat Buena Vista 12-7.

The following year the Knights did it again at Luther's expense, 27-20.

Wartburg Knights now have a winning streak of four games going for them. The last Homecoming defeat was at the hands of Central in 1956.

Buena Vista Beavers have a long, illustrious history in Knight Homecoming records. The Beavers came to Wartburg on five Homecomings prior to today, only to lose four times and tie once.

In the prognostication department things have been looking up, as all my loyal readers are now aware. Only one game was missed last week for an average of 75 per cent. This brings the two-week mark up to 62 per cent.

Peering into the crystal ball, I might say that the future looks fairly clear for today's activities on the gridiron.

Central goes to Luther to face the Norse in their Homecoming tilt. Even if this weren't Homecoming at Decorah, Central would have no chance. Since it is that, though, the Flying Dutchmen will be just about completely grounded. They may even find themselves underground before the afternoon is over.

Upper Iowa goes to meet the Tigers of Wesleyan. This one should be a fairly even game, with the Peacocks scoring their second victory in a row.

Parsons goes to Dubuque for what could be the roughest contest of the day. This seems to be the place to predict Parsons' undefeated season, and although it might be close, the Dubuque Spartans will not block the path of the Kelly Green.

That leaves us back at Knightland. After the defeat at the hands of BV last year and because this is one of the football high spots of the year, the Jomen should be up for this one.

Victory may come harder than the Knights realize, but I think they will keep the H-C win streak alive by a narrow margin.

May you all survive the weekend, so that you can read this unenlightening piece of trash next week.

3 Games Lead IM Action

By Curtis Sylvester

Three football games were played and one game was forfeited in intramural action last week.

The only game played on Tuesday saw the Off-campus team down Grossmann III by a 13-6 margin. Clinton III, being short of players, was forced to forfeit its scheduled game to North Hall.

Many TD's In Two

Two high-scoring games were played Thursday. Clinton I-Basement topped Clinton II by a score of 26-19 while Clinton III proved too much for Grossman III and won 20-13.

The tough Off-campus team managed to score twice while holding the Grossmann III gridders to one TD in a game played Tuesday in a steady drizzle.

Off-campus Rolls

Off-campus scored first on a run by Charlie Matthias and later on a pass from Leon Schade to Bill Riggle. Larry Moth lugged the pigskin for the only Grossmann III marker of the afternoon.

Bill Westphal, of Clinton I-Basement, threw three touchdown passes and returned a kickoff for a TD Thursday afternoon in leading his team to the 26-19 win over Clinton II. Bill Bigelow took one of the passes and Lee Ward caught the other two.

Clinton II Passes

Clinton II unleashed a passing game of its own with Al Buenning throwing three TD passes, one to Rick Lohr and two to Ron Rademacher.

In the final game played Thursday Clinton III stopped Grossmann III, 20-13.

Nelson Meyer scored the first Clinton touchdown on a pass from Dave Langrock. Langrock scored the second on a play from scrimmage, and Jim Hamer passed to Tom Rappath for the final tally.

Grossmann III markers were scored on a pass from Jim Johnston to Dave Shalkhauser and a run by Larry Moth.

Last Week's Best

Offensive

Quarterback Gary Leeper was voted by Trumpet sportswriters the best offensive player because of last week's performance at Upper Iowa. Leeper won the nod for his passing and for some of his runs early in the game.

Leeper

Other contenders were Lowell Junkman for his running, Don Sowers for his blocking and pass-catching and Tim Tower for his touchdown pass reception.

Defensive

In the usual close vote, Don Sowers emerged as the top defensive player in the Upper Iowa game. Sowers, known for his hard, bruising tackles and blocking, received the honor for his over-all play on both defense and offense.

Sowers

Right on Sowers' heels were Gary Johnson and his twin brother, Ted. Both are sharp tacklers and play an important part in the Knights' defense.

WHETHER AS TACKLE OR KICKER

Krominga Plays Valuable Dual Role

By John Stumme

Denny Krominga is a tackle and a good one, too. Yet he has scored more points in his college career than many backfield men for the Knights.

BLOCKING OUT HIS man, "Kro" shows why he is an important cog in the line.

Krominga is the "golden toe of Wartburg," the guy who puts the frosting on the cake — Wartburg's point-after-touchdown man.

How More Valuable?

But Wartburg fans could get into a pretty good argument over whether Krominga is more valuable as a kicker or as a defensive and offensive tackle.

On the kicking side of the ledger, one could chalk up the fact that through PAT'S and field goals, Krominga has scored the equivalent of eight and two-thirds touchdowns.

Every time he kicks an extra point, Krominga breaks the school PAT record, which he holds. With five games remaining, he has already kicked 46 PAT's.

Has Record For Most

He also holds the record for the most extra points in one season, 19. He set this record in 1958 when Wartburg's explosive offense scored 29 touchdowns.

Like many of his teammates, Krominga's greatest thrill was beating Luther, 7-6, three weeks ago. And how did Wartburg get its margin of victory? Denny kicked the decisive PAT through the uprights.

Krominga also kicks off. His long, thundering kicks often give the opposition no chance for returns as they sail into the end zone.

Best As Lineman?

The case for those who believe Krominga is most valuable to the Knights as a lineman is more subjective. The number of tackles, blocks and assists are harder to keep track of than the number of PAT's or the distance of the kickoffs.

Few people will deny that Denny is a stalwart in the Knights' defensive line and has done his share of keeping the opposition from going up the middle. Recognizing his alert play, the Trumpet staff voted him lineman-of-the-week two Saturdays ago.

All-conference Fullback

Those who say Krominga is most valuable to Wartburg as a lineman will be surprised to find out that Denny was an all-conference fullback for two years in high school. The 6' 2", 210-pounder earned four letters in football as well as four in both basketball and baseball.

Some may think Krominga is most valuable as a kicker; others may say he does more good as a lineman. But Coach Norm Johansen is most happy having Krominga as both a kicker and a lineman.

ALREADY WITH FIVE CHAMPIONSHIPS

'Junk' Aids Teams On Victory Trail

By John Stumme

"If we don't win the conference this year, it will be the first team that I've played on that hasn't at least shared the championship."

So says speedy senior halfback and fullback Lowell Junkman. Junkman has played an important role on five football championship teams.

Assists Manson

As an all-conference halfback his junior and senior years, he helped Manson High School capture three conference crowns. In his senior year he received all-state honorable mention and demonstrated his value as a scoring threat by crossing the goal line four times in one game.

Junkman

Wartburg's first conference championship and first undefeated season in the history of the school are closely connected to Lowell's most exciting moment.

"In 1958, my freshman year, we were playing Luther," said Junkman. "I intercepted a pass and ran 87 yards or so for a touchdown."

Scores Only TD

The play turned out to be the deciisive one of the game, if not of the whole season, as Luther and Wartburg battled it out to a 6-6 tie.

As a sophomore Junkman was an important cog in the Knights' powerful offensc. He carried the ball 237 yards in 51 tries for a respectable 4.5 yards-per-carry average. He scored three touchdowns and returned five kickoffs 99 yards.

This season, after being out of football for a year, Junkman has become one of the most used backfield men, lugging the ball 51 times in three games. But, as yet, hc has failed to get loose for any substantial gain, having picked up only 123 yards.

Junkman Is Fast

Speed is this 5' 10," 173-pounder's chief physical attribute. In high school he was a dash man for the track team, running the 100-yard dash in 10.2 seconds. In intramural track his freshman year, Lowell, running in tennis shoes, dashed the 100 in 10.7 seconds, tieing the intramural record.

Junkman combines with his speed a real competitive spirit, matured by the habit of winning.

Said Junkman, "I guess I could put what I like best about football in one word: competition."

In his last year of competitive football, Junkman is afraid that his string of championship teams will be broken.

No More Losses

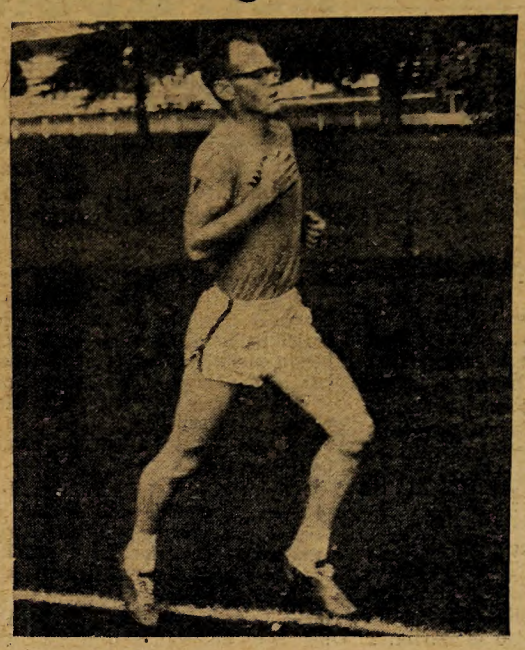
But he added, "We won't get beat any more this season."

Although he lettered in football, track and baseball in high school, Junkman has specialized in football in college. He is also a member of W-Club and vice-president of Passavant Club.

Junkman may not be on a championship team this year, but he is still using his speed mixed with competitive spirit to bring as many victories to Wartburg as possible.

HALFBACK-FULLBACK LOWELL Junkman goes into the air to haul down a pass. Junkman is better known as a yardage-gainer on the ground.

Wartburg Lacks Runners; Lose Third



TOURING THE LOCAL golf course, the Knights' only cross-country letterman, Russ Leitz, works to build up his stamina and speed.

Wartburg's short-handed cross-country team lost its third meet of the year Tuesday to State College of Iowa, 15-45.

"It's been a difficult season," said Coach John Kurtt. "I wish we had some more runners.

The squad is down to five now after several quit recently. Kurtt would like to have seven runners.

Leading the harriers so far this year have been lone letterman Russ Leitz and sophomore Lothar Columbus. Columbus has the best time for three miles this season—17 minutes flat at Winona State, Winona, Minn.

Next opponent for the Knights is Simpson next Friday afternoon at the local golf course. Simpson beat Wartburg 17-38 last year and then went on to win the conference meet. Low score wins in cross-country.

AS RESERVES ARE ACTIVATED

Four Leave School To Aid Uncle Sam

By John Stumme

"And let me add that I am well aware of the fact that many American families will bear the burden of these requests. Studies or careers will be interrupted; husbands and sons will be called away; incomes, in some cases, will be reduced . . . "

These were the words of President John F. Kennedy, July 25, spoken over a nationwide radio and television address on the Berlin crisis.

Four Answer Call

For four Wartburg reservists this prophecy has come true.

Seniors Don Claussen and Don Ringgenberg and juniors Al Exner and Gary Medlang have had their studies interrupted for a year and have been ordered to report to active duty to meet the latest Communist threats.

Both Claussen and Medlang are members of the 404th Signal Company, which is to report to active duty tomorrow in Waterloo. In a week the company will go to Fort Huachuca, Ariz., to be trained with other signal units.

Will Miss Wives

Claussen and Medlang are neighbors in the trailer court. Their wives teach school and will not be able to leave Waverly. Both said that this would be the most difficult part of leaving.

Medlang, a Business Administration major, pitched for the Knights' championship baseball team last spring as well as played guard for the basketball squad.

Planned To Resume Studies

Claussen was working full-time at J. C. Penney's and carrying three hours of Contemporary Society. He was planning to return to full-time study next semester. Claussen is a social work major.

Ringgenberg left Wartburg Wednesday and begins active duty Monday. He will be stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., as a cannoneer. Ringgenberg was a reserve guard in football this fall.

Baseball Standout

For two years Al Exner has been Coach Earnest Oppermann's number one catcher. As a freshman he led the teams in home runs, and last year he hit a respectable .302.

Exner is to report to Fort Lewis, Wash., on Nov. 2. He has been assigned to the 32nd Infantry Division.

"The draft is hitting me hard, personally," said Exner, "but I believe it is necessary. Most guys probably have it worse than I do, but it's hard to accept the fact that I'm going back after two years of college life. I won't really realize that I've been drafted till I'm out there."

Maybe Berlin

Said Ringgenberg, "One thing about the draft is that it is a show of strength. Communism is nothing to fool around with. I might have to go to Berlin."

Medlang said, "At camp we got an idea that we might be called in. Our signal corps had been on alert for over a year. The death of Dag Hammarskjold sewed it up for us."

"I kind of suspected it after summer camp, but it still came as a blast," said Claussen. "Being a senior and being married, I have a certain amount of bitterness. However, if it hadn't been for those before me, I wouldn't be able to carry on my education as I wish."

No Glory In Leaving

There is little glory in leaving college, friends or wife for active army duty. No bands parade through the streets, sending you off. The sbock of the call is hard to realize. Plans have been interrupted. The change of life is hard to adjust to.

" . . . But these are the burdens which must be borne if freedom is to be defended—Americans have willingly borne them before— and they will not flinch from the task now."

These were the words of President John F. Kennedy.

Ron Rounds Out HC Duties

By Jen Miller

Someone is responsible for the balloons flying over Old Main today, the smorgasbord at Carver's, Kastle Kapers — in short, for the success of Homecoming 1961.

That important "someone" is senior Ronald Bencke, general Homecoming chairman.

Ron Elected In May

Ron, a business administration-economics major from Maynard, was elected last May by a preferential ballot of the student body. He immediately began making plans for this weekend by picking the 15 members of his general committee.

During the summer, while Homecoming plans were temporarily laid aside, Ron and his fiancee, Mary Scott, also a senior, made plans for the future — theirs.

Realizing that both would be busy with Homecoming this fall (Mary is Homecoming dance chairman) Ron and Mary made all the necessary plans for their wedding, which is set for Dec. 19 at Mary's home church in Waterloo.

Ron, who plans a career in business management, is presently president of Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary journalism fraternity, and a member of the Trumpet advertising staff and Business Student Association.

Job Means Many Details

Describing his duties as general co-ordinator of the 15 Homecoming committees, Ron said, "It isn't a lot of physical work. It involves ironing out details.

"I would like to say, too," he continued, "that the success of this year's Homecoming cannot be attributed to any one person but to all the committee chairmen and their subcommittees.

"Students should realize, too, that Mr. Gremmels (alumni director) and Herb Engelbrecht (business manager) are greatly responsible for the success of Homecoming. Engelbrecht had the big sign facing Bremer Avenue put up.

"The committee has tried to create a festive atmosphere on campus," said Ron, "by using devices like the 30-inch, helium-filled balloons with pennants hanging from them and the 'Hello, Grads' signs in Old Main windows."

Problems Have Come Up

Although most of the plans have run smoothly, Ron admitted that there have been a few problems. One was the late arrival of novelties.

"I would say the biggest problem this year, however, was to decide whether to proceed in the direction of having a parade or on-campus decorations," said Ron.

SELLING RON THE first Homecoming button, Jim Ward takes the time to pin it on the busy Homecoming chairman.

"While this year's parade will be the best, no doubt, that Wartburg has ever had, I personally feel that within several years there will be no parade."

What is it like to be head of a big event like Homecoming?

Ron said that such a responsibility leaves little time for study, but he added with a smile. "I have really enjoyed being in this position.

Good To See Plans Work

"It's especially rewarding now that I can see the ideas taking shape after being in the planning stage for months. Some of the things which seemed too big for Wartburg several months ago are now a reality.

"I can honestly say," said Ron, referring to his chairmanship, "there's never been anything that's come close to this."

Senators Give Spark To Student Government

"Never in my three years at Wartburg have I seen so much enthusiasm toward student government among the senators and students. I only hope that this interest will take root as the year progresses. If it does, student government will take a big step forward."—Student Body President Al Snook.

EDITOR'S NOTE — With the greater interest in student government it is essential that each student know his senator. In order to introduce them more fully, following are brief sketches of each senator. Feature articles on Student Body officers will follow later.

MARY MARKLE

Mary Markle, senior senator, is chairman of the Social Activities Committee this year. Mary has been active in student government since she transferred to Wartburg from St. Olaf, where she spent her freshman year.

During her three years as senator, Mary has served on the Student Welfare Committee, acted as secretary for the Social Activities Committee and was chairman for the Junior-Senior Banquet last year.

About working in student government, Mary says, "I feel that it pays to work in student government because you receive rewards not necessarily material, but you have the satisfaction of doing something for the school and making it a better place for the student."

GAIL LOVOLD

Gail Lovold, from Montgomery, Minn., is a senior senator majoring in elementary education. Prior to her election as senator, Gail held many executive positions here at Wartburg. Among them were secretary-treasurer for the band, sophomore class treasurer and secretary of the student congregation.

As a member of the student government, Gail serves on the Artist Series Committee. She finds this work very interesting and is "looking forward to getting acquainted with the artists who will visit Wartburg."

MILBERN GOETZ

Senior senator Milbern Goetz is a psychology major from Stanley, N. D. He is serving this year as class president and as chairman of the Academic Life Committee, which is "looking forward to making this academic year more meaningful and beneficial for all of the students at Wartburg."

Currently Goetz is president of Wartburg Choir and is a member of the Concert Band, the Student Union Council, Chi Rho and the Campus Church council.

TOM KUCKKAHN

Senior Tom Kuckkahn is a social work major from Watertown, Wis. In his junior year Tom was chairman of the Social Activities Committee, and this year is chairman of the Student Activities Committee.

Among his many interests, Tom lists his work as houseparent at the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly and his desire to earn his master of arts degree in psychiatric social work.

RITA JOHNSON

One of the junior class senators is Rita Johnson, a psychology major and physical education minor from Lake Mills. Rita's many activities include serving as secretary-treasurer for Castle Singers, councilor for third floor of Centennial Hall and being a member of Women's Athletic Association, Student Education Association and Phy. Ed. Club.

Rita views her first experiences as senator as "very interesting and very helpful."

JOYCE BRENKE

Joyce Brenke from Belle Plaine, Minn., is a junior here at Wartburg, majoring in elementary education. As president of her class she is automatically a junior senator.

Among the list of other activities that keep her busy, Joyce lists SEA, Student Union Council and serving as councilor for third floor of Centennial Hall.

About her responsibilities as a senator, Joyce says, "It is fun working in student government, and I wish more kids would become interested in it because it is a vital part of life on campus."

CHARLOTTE WITTMANN

Another junior senator is English major Charlotte Wittmann from Milwaukee, Wis. In high school Charlotte was in student council. Last year she was president of Pi Sigma here, and this year she is serving as program chairman for the Phy. Ed. Club.

This is her first year working in Wartburg student government, and Charlotte says that she has already learned a great deal about understanding "the inside view of a situation."

"I've become much more sympathetic toward the administration," Charlotte states, "now that I am acquainted with the many problems they face."

DICK BUCHSTEINER

Dick Buchsteiner, chairman of the Elections Committee, is the fourth junior senator. A social work major from Reedsburg, Wis., Dick lists his main interest as sports and his chief activities as Ushers Club, Chi Rho, Passavant Club and the Grossmann Hall presidentship.

"I enjoy working on the Senate a great deal," said Dick. "Not only does it give me a chance to be active in student government, but it affords excellent opportunities for meeting the student."

PAUL WILKEN

President of the sophomore class is Paul Wilken from Danforth, Ill. Positions of responsibility are not new to Paul. In high school, Paul was vice-president of the student council, president of his class, Mixed Chorus president and co-editor of the school newspaper.

Here on campus Paul is vice-president of the Wartburg Choir, chairman of the Campus Congregation Finance Committee, and a member of LSA, Chi Rho and Young Republicans.

About his experience as senator Paul said, "I appreciate the opportunity to serve on the Senate again this year. It is an enlightening experience, sometimes a little disheartening, but usually very satisfying."

AUDRAE STOEBNER

Audrae Stoebner is the sophomores' only girl senator. Coming from Rock Rapids, Audrae is an elementary education major with a minor in physical education.

Although this is Audrae's first year on Student Senate, she is no newcomer to the executive scene. In high school she was treasurer and vice-president of her class. This year she is business manager of the Fortress, and a member of the Regional LSA Council. Audrae is also active in WAA and SEA.

Audrae finds student government interesting and informative. She says, "It means something being a representative, and I want to help the kids. I always think it's helpful to seek out the opinions of kids on major issues."

NELSON MEYER

Sophomore senator Nelson Meyer from Unadilla, Neb., is chairman of the Public Relations Committee. As a pre-the, Nelson is majoring in psychology. Chi Rho and Dorm Council also occupy his time.

When asked his opinion about Wartburg's student government, Nelson commented, "I feel that student government has a very definite place at Wartburg. However, I feel that with increased student interest, student government would attain a much higher position in our college community. . . ."

JIM RIESBERG

One of the busiest senators comes to Wartburg from Denver, Colo. He is sophomore Jim Riesberg, chairman of the Student Welfare Committee. Besides carrying a double major of Greek and sociology, Jim is kept busy by his activities in Campus Chest, debate, Student Congregation and Mission Fellowship of which he is president.

When asked how he felt about student government, Jim said, "Here at Wartburg we are offered many things to do, and we have power over what should be done. I only hope that enthusiasm shown by the students will continue on into the field of student government, so that they will accept their challenges and responsibilities.

"Nothing is as important to the student government at Wartburg, as is active participation, full co-operation and attendance at all committee and student body meetings."

DAVE HUTSON

One of the new freshman senators is Dave Hutson from Sibley, Ill. Dave, too, comes to Wartburg with student government experience. In high school he served as student body president and senior class president.

Senator Dave, who is serving on the Academic Life Committee, likes the good organization of the student government at Wartburg.

BARB MATTHIAS

Another new freshman senator is Barb Matthias from Denver. Although Barb is a newcomer to Wartburg, she is not a newcomer to student government positions and responsibilities. In high school she served on the student council and was president of her class as well as vice-president of mixed chorus.

"I believe it's an honor to be chosen senator," says Barb. "It made me very happy to be chosen, and I just hope I can help Wartburg in this way."

Then she added, "I hope all the other freshmen are enjoying Wartburg as much as I am."

DON HUGHES

Freshman senator Don Hughes is a chemistry major from Peoria, Ill. In high school Don was active in choir, speech and drama. When he came to Wartburg, he followed up these interests by joining Castle Singers and Wartburg Players.

Don was also a member of student council in high school.

About Wartburg and his work in student government he said, "I am very happy with my choice of Wartburg and find Senate very interesting. I will serve my class as best I can."

RANDY MARSH

Randy Marsh, a history major from Robbins, Ill., is this year's freshman class president.

Randy worked on many committees in high school and was a member of various clubs, among them Waiters Club, Latin Club, Fine Arts Club and TAG, a club for trigonometry, algebra and geometry students.

Randy likes to work in dramatics and speech, but his main interest is in basketball and track.
